

IANZ Marketing Blurb

Please find below a paragraph about IANZ that you are welcome to use for your marketing purposes.

IANZ is the organisation that makes sure New Zealand keeps being the kind of place we all love living in. They protect the health and wealth of New Zealand by ensuring that those who test or inspect the products and services we buy, consume, use, or are surrounded by every day are safe, accurate, and aren't doing us harm. They do this by ensuring testing laboratories, inspection bodies, building consent authorities and medical imaging providers meet international standards and can demonstrate that they are competent. IANZ also helps our exporters access international markets by ensuring that those who test or inspect their products, meet the required standards for each country. Not all laboratories or inspection bodies are accredited, so when you see that our reports or certificates carry the IANZ mark of competence, you can have confidence in results that are trusted in New Zealand and around the world.